

Trained by the people that are winning the awards!

Our trainers are running accounts... and they're running them very well!

They're in the platforms daily and have relevant experiences and up-to-date knowledge to share.

This is Kit.

With a background in data-driven design, Kit specialises in experiment conception and construction. He's our resident expert on all things Optimizely.

Typical Training Content

This session builds on the Optimizely Web Foundations, giving you the understanding necessary to work through more complex web experiments. We will focus more heavily on Optimizely's JavaScript API as well as Optimizely's Behaviour API to allow you to build more complex experiments, enable robust tracking, template reusable extensions and deploy real-time one-to-one personalisation experiences.
